A QUESTION UNDER THE VETERAN LAW TESTING THE RIGHT OF THE TAX COMMISSIONERS TO REMOVE CERTAIN DEPUTIES.

The question as to the right of the Tax Commisioners appointed by Mayor Strong to remove the deputies holding office at the time they were appointed, and especially a veteran of the war an also a veteran fireman, John H. Conway, was argued before Judge Beekman, in Supreme Court, Chambers, yesterday, upon an application which was made by ex-Judge Browne, in behalf of Conway, for a mandamus to compel the Commissioners to reinstate him. Conway was removed on August 1. with eight other deputies. He, as a veteran of the war and a veteran fireman, claims exemption from removal under the laws of 1894.

He was represented by ex-Judge Edward Brown He was represented by ex-Judge Edward Browne, and Assistant Corporation Counsel Ward appeared for the Commissioners. Counsel for Conway argued that as the Deputy Tax Cimmissioners, so-called, could be appointed by the Commissioners without limit as to number, and because they could not act freely and independently as the Commissioners could, they were really not deputies, and did not come within the exception to the laws of 1994 relative to private secretary, deputy or other persons holding confidential relations to the appointing power.

Mr. Ward contended that under the general principles of law. Conway and the others were deputies, and held relations of a confidential nature to the Commissioners, so that they clearly came within the exception to the veteran laws.

Judge Beekman reserved his decision.

Judge Gaynor, of the Supreme Court, in Brooklyn listened to arguments yesterday relative to the rights of the inmates of the Sailor's Snug Harbor en Staten Island under the new Constitution. J. T. Greenfield, a lawyer, called the Court's attention to the amendment to the Constitution which provides the amendment to the Constitution which provides that no person shall be deemed to have lost a residence while ar immate of an institution wholly or in part supported by charity. He said that the immates of Sailor's Snug Harbor come within the provision. An action was brought by a Good Government Club against Thomas H. Meyers, an inmate of the institution and an inspector of election in the town of Castleton, to remove him from his political place under the amended Constitution. There are 80 inmates in the Harbor, and many of them are voters. The action was brought as a test. Mr. Greenfield said that the Harbor had been established under the will of Robert Randall, and was supported by charity. The Judge took the papers.

There has been no fraul committed. Our ousliess has been wholly honorable. All we ask is suspension of judgment until the issue is determined."

WITE OF THE FLOATING HOSPITAL

Two unfortunate procrastinating mothers deayed too long before seeking the medicine of salt air for their sick babies, and two little lives passed away in the wards of the Floating Hospital yesterday, despite the efforts of earnest doctors and skilled nurses-lives that might have been saved had they been brought to the care of St. John's Guild earlier. The Seaside Hospital, at New-Dorp is full to overflowing, and many cases that should be there day and night are receiving ter ler daily care on the Floating Hospital. No week during the entire summer has brought so large a number of very sick children for treatment at the Guild's hospitals as this. The hospitals are equipped for further work and will perform it unless they are forced to close for lack of funds. On arrival at Tampico Anderson was sent to the hospital on shore, where he died on August 17 from pernicious fever. On investigation Dr. Doty decided that the history of the case was suspicious, and that it was necessary to hold the steamer and her crew as a precautionary measure. The crew will be sent to Hoffman Island, where they will be bathed and their clothing subjected to steam disinfection. The Edenmore was released later in the afternson and proceeded to Perth Amboy to disherer care.
